

Assisted Migration: Rethinking conservation?

Come and discuss the consequences (ecological, policy, economic etc) of moving species threatened by extinction from climate change to places where they have previously not occurred.

The Toronto Chapter of the Society for Conservation Biology is hosting its first Conservation Evening. To be held on the last Wednesday of every month, the purpose of these monthly discussions is to get people together in an informal setting (Pub!) to discuss topical conservation issues from a more philosophical standpoint. Everyone welcome.
